

Press Release

Information about the Energy Regulatory Office's price decision on thermal energy prices for 2015

The Energy Regulatory Office will not issue a new price decision on thermal energy prices for 2015. The ERO's current Price Decision No 2/2013 of 1 November 2013 will therefore stay in force. The binding conditions for cost-plus prices of thermal energy remain unchanged.

The conditions for the calculation of and agreements on thermal energy prices are applicable to all thermal energy suppliers.

The amount and any changes in thermal energy prices in each of the price locations mainly depend on the quantity of thermal energy supplied, the fuel used for producing thermal energy, and the development of the prices of these fuels.
